January 18th, 1919.

Mr. G. C. Holbrook,
c/o Jordan Marsh Company,
Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Holbrook:-

Your letter of January 11th came to hand the other day, but as sickness interfered my answer was delayed.

I really know nothing about almanacs. The Public Library (Mr. Chevalier I think is the man to see) are anxious to get any Boston almanacs that they have not got. Mr. Goodspeed, a dealer on Park Street, I think could tell you whether it was worth anything, or not. H. E. Morey, 36 Portland Street, Boston, has in times past specialized in old almanacs. This is the best I can do.

I trust you are well and the furniture business booming. I remain,

Yours very truly,

Curator.
